

FULL-TIME ATTORNEY CONSUMER PROTECTION AND ANTITRUST BUREAU

The Department of Justice seeks an experienced and motivated attorney to join the Consumer Protection and Antitrust Bureau.

The Bureau is responsible for investigating and prosecuting unfair and deceptive business practices, reviewing proposed mergers for violations of law related to competition, and investigating anticompetitive conduct in various industries, including health care and technology companies. It exercises statewide civil and criminal enforcement authority and partners with the U.S. Department of Justice, Federal Trade Commission, and other state attorneys general to conduct multistate investigations and litigation.

The Bureau is composed of a multidisciplinary team including attorneys, sworn law enforcement investigators, a financial analyst, and support staff. The successful candidate will be primarily responsible for handling matters involving the enforcement of state and federal antitrust laws, but will also work on other consumer protection cases. Civil litigation experience is preferred but an interest in learning antitrust law is required. Strong legal research and writing skills, a collaborative work ethic, individual initiative, and the ability to identify strategic and creative solutions in a fast-paced environment is highly desirable.

Some of the recent examples of high profile Consumer Protection and Antitrust cases handled by the Bureau include:
